Dear partners and friends of Agile Mind Scribe project,

Welcome to this issue of our project newsletter. April 2026 has been a busy and productive month: the consortium gathered in Tenerife, Spain for the third Transnational Project Meeting and a four-day Train the Trainers activity , both hosted by the partner Instituto Tecnológico de Canarias (ITC). This edition brings you a detailed look at what happened, a reminder of who we are and what we are building together, and a look ahead at our final project milestones.

About Agile Mind Scribe

Agile Mind Scribe is an Erasmus+ Cooperation Partnership in Adult Education (KA220-ADU) dedicated to solving a challenge that organisations across Europe share: how to transfer and retain knowledge, especially during generational transition, in a sustainable, practical way.

Project News: Agile Mind Scribe in Tenerife

The Agile Mind Scribe partnership gathered in Tenerife for a milestone double event: the third Transnational Project Meeting (TPM3) on Monday 20 April, followed immediately by a four-day Train the Trainers activity from Tuesday 21 to Friday 24 April 2026. Together, these events marked a decisive shift in the project's journey, from strategic alignment and content development to hands-on implementation and capacity building.

TPM3 — Transnational Project Meeting (Monday 20 April)

The TPM3 brought all five partners together at the ITC offices to take stock of where the project stands. The morning session focused on the current project progress and GANTT review, followed by a detailed review of the online course being developed under Work Package 3. Partners then formally assessed deliverables and aligned on the formal delivery of Milestones 2 and 3, agreeing on the next key steps before the project's final stage. The meeting closed with a check against partners' expectations, keeping the consortium accountable and fully coordinated as the project enters its final phase.

Train the Trainers (Tuesday 21 – Friday 24 April)

The four-day training activity, led by ITC in collaboration with SBC, gave partners the practical tools to deliver and implement the Agile Mind Scribe methodology in their own organisations. The programme was carefully structured to move from conceptual grounding to applied practice across four days.

What the Tenerife week delivered

The combination of the TPM and the Train the Trainers activity captures something essential about the Agile Mind Scribe approach: strategic clarity and practical capacity are not separate goals, they reinforce each other. The TPM ensured the consortium is aligned on milestones and deliverables, while the training activity equipped all partners to implement and disseminate the project methodology in their own organizations. The company visit on the final day brought the project's conceptual framework to life in a real working environment, reinforcing the practical relevance of the tools being developed.

Project Updates

Methodological Framework (WP2) — Completed

Work Package 2, led by SBC, has delivered the project's core output: the Agile Mind Scribe Methodological Framework. This document identifies and adapts more than 30 Agile methods and practices for the specific purpose of knowledge transfer and retention in organisations. For each method, from daily stand-ups and retrospectives to extreme programming, facilitated workshops, and communities of practice, the framework provides pedagogical guidelines, examples, and implementation scenarios grounded in both Agile thinking and behavioural design. The framework is available in Open Access format on the project website.

Training Course (WP3) — Completed

Building on the methodology, ITC developed the Agile Mind Scribe Training Course under Work Package 3. The course is designed for managers, team leaders, HR professionals, and high performers who will act as internal agents of change in their organisations. It addresses the organisational, pedagogical, and technical dimensions of implementing the methodology. Video tutorials and a promotional video are also being produced. A pilot delivery to a focus group of partner representatives is planned for the coming months.

Toolkit and Implementation Preparation

Following the Train the Trainers activity, partners are now equipped to begin the implementation phase (WP4). Each organization will integrate the Agile Mind Scribe methodology into their onboarding processes and deliver internal training for their managers, team leaders, and key staff. Dissemination events are being planned in each partner country, and two pro-bono training deliveries to external organizations from different industries are also planned.
